

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. LOUIS XIV AND THE GRAND CONDÉ.

54 x 37

Painted to order, 1878.

(Extract of Letter from the Artist.)

“ In order to deliver your picture of the ‘ Reception of the Prince of Condé, by Louis XIV.’ I have worked upon it without intermission to reach the desired end, and I hope that I have succeeded. I hope also that you will be satisfied, for I have done my best to arrive at this result. A few lines about the subject will make you understand it in its details. The reception takes place on the grand staircase at Versailles. This staircase no longer exists. It was destroyed under Louis XV., but there remains an engraving of it at that time, very well executed, which has enabled me to reconstruct it with truth. In the year 1674 Condé had returned to Court, where he was received in triumph. The King came forward to meet him on the grand staircase, which was not his usual habit. The Prince was going up slowly, on account of the gout which made him almost helpless. As soon as he saw the monarch, 'Sire,' said he, 'I beg your Majesty's pardon, to make you wait so long.' 'My cousin,' answered the King, 'do not hurry. When one is so loaded with laurels as you are, it is difficult to walk quickly.' Louis XIV. pressed him in his arms, and embraced him repeatedly. By the side of Louis XIV. stands his son, the Duke of Burgundy, whom they called the Great Dauphin, at that time thirteen years old. He died while young, without having reigned, and was the father of Louis XV. Behind him is his preceptor Bossuet, Bishop of Meaux. On the right and on the left are members of the Court."

A FETE DURING THE CARNIVAL.

40 x 28

Painted to order 1879.

(Extract of Letter from the Artist.)

“I have received your amiable letter and thank you for your compliments. * * * I continue to work on your picture, ‘A Fête During the Carnival,’ which, as you have seen in my sketch, is a fancy dress ball; it interests me greatly to paint it, because of the movement and the variety of persons represented, and I hope it will be finished to your taste.

“Happily the Exposition is closed, and as I was on the Spanish Commission, where I lost a great deal of time, now I will not quit your picture until it is finished, and as I would desire it.”

THE PORTRAIT.

38 x 26

Painted to order, 1879.

[32]

(Extract of a Letter from the Artist.)

“ Believe me, I consider it a great honor to have one of my pictures in your collection. You may be assured that I will take every pains with your picture, not only for myself but for you, to make it one of my best works. Nothing shall be neglected in the finishing of it, as I wish with all my heart to give you satisfaction. * * * The subject of the painting is ‘The Portrait.’ A young lady of noble birth is having her portrait painted. She is sitting on a stairway covered with rich tapestries. An attendant amuses her with some music. A young man near her held by her conversation and the animation of her face. In the foreground is the artist with his easel and canvass. While he works a group of lords contemplate the pictures. At the left a page prepares some refreshments. The costumes are of Holland, early in the seventeenth century.”

(Extract of Letter from the Artist.)

“ The subject is a representation of what is usually to be seen in the business room of an ‘ agent,’ where, as our Scottish Burns expresses it, ‘ Puir tenant bodies scant o’ cash,’ drop in one after the other to pay rents and arrears, often with great difficulty to themselves, and sometimes not without unwillingness, even when they can, from a failing not uncommon in frail human nature, viz., a distaste to part with the cash. The agent, accustomed to the work, and used to the many complaints of ‘ high rents, hard times, failure of crops,’ etc., takes it all as a philosopher, and quietly listens, chats and nibs his pen, having but one point in view— getting the cash. The particular incident illustrates what is not uncommon, a difficulty in arranging contra acc’ts, and for work ‘ done for his honor, and which his honor said himself was to be deducted from the rint.’ The Lady, who is sometimes the better man of the two, is active and looking after their interests, knowing that a mistake might be made, while the clerk, likely to be more sharp than polite, feels that, in his, for the day imposing and responsible position, he is called upon to look closely into such charges, that if a mistake exists, it may be in their favor, and in all probability, will in the end have to refer the matter to his superior. The other figures are all accessories of the same story. The man coming in warm, rubbing his head with his kerchief, chatting to the old man of the weather and the hard run he has had to be in time before his honor got busy, as he had to go look after some heifers in the field beyant Patsy Conroy's after he had done his business. Another stooping to pick up some papers he has dropped out of his hat, while the agent's "own man" is seen coming in at the door with some books, which will be required in the course of the day. This is something like what I intended. After the warm reception the picture has met with in Paris, I think I may venture to hope it will still add to my reputation."

(Extract of a Letter from the Artist.)

“ The title of my picture is ‘ The arrest of an Ambulance, eastern part of France, January, 1871.’ They are civil Ambulanciers, who have been taken by a Prussian patrol in a village where a battle has taken place. When their papers have been examined and recognized in order by the Prussian general, they will be released, and authorized to collect the wounded and assist in the German infirmaries. The spot where the scene is laid is a little village in Franche-Comté ; they have fought there ; the Germans occupy it. The foot soldiers who surround the ambulances are Prussian Chasseurs (Rheinisches, jager, Batallion No. 8.) The Prussian general is accompanied by an officer of the Hussars (Leibhusaren, Regiment No. 2), and by an officer on the staff ; his cap and cloak facing of amaranth. The two other officers are, the one in blue tunic and yellow collar, an officer of the Dragoons ; the other an officer of the Cuirassiers (Brandenburgisches Cuirassier, Regiment No. 6, Kaiser Nicholas I. von Russland.) The dead body in the foreground is that of a Bavarian foot soldier. Those are also Bavarians who are at the end of the street, and at the entrance of the house under the façade, and pierced by bullets. Here are very minute explanations, but I thought that Mr. Vanderbilt would be pleased to have all possible details about his picture. I hope that he may be satisfied with it, and that it will receive many compliments."

PIA DE TOLOMEI.

39 x 56

(Extract of a Letter from the Artist.)

“ I have received with great pleasure your obliging letter. No one can be more sensible than I to the expressions of sympathy which it contains. You must have already received the picture of ‘ Pia de Tolomei,’ which I have painted for you. I will give you the passage of history which inspired my work. Pia, of the noble family of the Tolomei, of Siena, was shut up in a castle of the Maremma, by her husband, Nello della Pietra, who accused her of infidelity. The poisoned air of this region killed her. I have, then, imagined her upon the terrace of the castle, strong in her innocence, and defying her evil destiny. Pia has been for many years a favorite subject with Italian painters and poets. Her story is a mysterious one, and her personality has always attracted a noble sympathy. Dante, who places her in his ‘ Purgatory,’ devotes to her only a few lines of the V. Canto, but these few lines are a poem in themselves :

' Ah ! when thou hast returned unto the world,
And rested there from thy long journeying.

* * * * *
Do thou remember me, who am the Pia ?
Siena made me ; unmade me, Maremma ;
He knoweth it who has encircled first,
Espousing me, my finger with his gem.'*

* The death of Pia di Tolomei occurred in the year 1295, or thirty years before the birth of Dante. So that at the epoch at which Dante wrote his poem, the event must have been fresh in memory of men in Tuscany.

Alfieri has written a fine tragedy, and many poets have sung the beauty and the sad fate of Pia de Tolomei. You know my aspirations. I do not need therefore to tell you what an attraction this noble and touching figure must have for me. I have exerted myself therefore to the utmost to paint the subject as it presents itself to my imagination. My artist friends, and others in whom I place great confidence, have praised the picture very highly ; and, for my own part, I am well pleased that this picture is to go to you, for I consider it not only one of my very best works, but also one of the most affecting that I have painted."
